

China Monographic Series Full-text Database (CMSD)

The China National Knowledge Infrastructure (CNKI) has developed the China Monographic Series Full-text Database, the first online resource of important Chinese academic literature published irregularly and assigned ISBNs.

CNKI – China National Knowledge Infrastructure

CNKI – the China National Knowledge Infrastructure – is the world’s most comprehensive online resource for accessing China’s intellectual output. This powerful platform is the product of Tongfang Knowledge Network, Beijing, and encompasses academic journals, dissertations, conference papers, news, and many other resources that put the knowledge of China in the sciences and humanities at your fingertips. CNKI, the foundation for any serious research on China, is hosted in the United States by East View and updated daily.

In the gray area between journals and more book-like/reference-like resources, these resources contain high quality, peer reviewed research.

Continuously published by academic institutions, these series are in volumes, with numbers such as year, issue, and other bibliographic information. More than 214,000 publications, going back as far as 1979, cover more than 270 subjects.

The screenshot shows the search interface for the China Monographic Series Full-text Database. It includes a search bar with options for Quick Search, Basic Search, Professional search, Scholar Search, Fund Search, Sentence Search, and Source Search. The search criteria are set to '1. Input The Content Search Range:' with 'Date: From All To All', 'Issue: Input', and 'Update Time: All'. The search results are displayed in a table with columns for No., Title, Author, Journal, Year/Issue, Cites, and Downloads.
