Although three million were falsely added to the USSR population by Soviet authorities, the results of the 1939 All-Union Census were declared secret. Despite the tampering, these results showed a drastically different picture than the official optimistic reports.

Forces of collectivization, massive purges had all taken their toll on the population. Any researcher comparing results from the 1926 and 1939 censuses could easily discern the tragic price paid for so called "socialist achievements."

Collection contains 8 volumes, 32 microfiche
