Shen Bao Digital Archive

The first newspaper in China with a Chinese editorial staff

Established in 1872, Shen Bao（申報, historically transliterated as Shun Pao or Shen-pao) was the most influential and longest lasting commercial newspaper before the establishment of the People's Republic. Published in Shanghai until 1949, Shen Bao was founded by Englishman Ernest Major, but, uniquely, as a newspaper for Chinese readers, written by Chinese reporters. During its existence, Shen Bao gradually shifted from a conservative to a more liberal perspective, and played a pivotal role in the formation of public opinion in the imperial period and into the tumultuous beginnings of modern China. Shen Bao's innovations in printing technologies, specialized use of the telegraph, and dispatch of special military correspondents gave it an edge.

Key Stats

- Archive: 1872-1949
- Language: Chinese
- City: Shanghai
- Country: China
- Frequency: Weekly
- Format: Full image and full text
- Producer: Green Apple
- Platform: Green Apple

Unique insight into China's transition from the 19th century to Mao

The Shen Bao Digital Archive contains all obtainable published issues (1872-1949, over 2 million articles).

The Shen Bao Digital Archive offers scholars the most comprehensive collection available for this title, and features full page-level digitization, complete original graphics, and 100% searchable text.

For more information or trial access, please contact info@eastview.com or visit https://www.eastview.com/request-trial

Shen Bao Digital Archive – https://www.eastview.com/resources/newspapers/shen-bao/ – November 12th, 2026 11:05 pm UTC. Product information subject to change without notice. Please refer to eastview.com or contact your East View representative for the most current information.